

BOARD BRIEFS FOR MAY 15, 2025

The Board of Education presented its Distinguished Awards for 2025.

The Richason Family of Richmond Heights was selected as Family of the Year. The Richason name has become synonymous with successful tax and bond measures for the school district for many, many years. But their dedication to MRH goes far beyond that.

- Craig has coached MRH Youth Sports, both baseball and soccer... served as a voter canvasser for many campaigns... and as Sandra points out, volunteered behind the scenes and cared for the kids while she was active with the PTO.
- Sandra was a PTO member for 12 years, taking on a wide variety of roles and projects. She served on the calendar committee for 9 years. She has stood at the polls and canvassed for many board of education candidates over the years. And, she has been the Development Contractor for Joe's Place since 2017... helping the JP Board raise more than $700,000!

As leaders of the "Keep MRH Strong" political action committee, Craig and Sandra have opened their hearts and their home time and time again, all in the name of providing the best-possible learning environment for MRH students. Sandra has served as the PAC president since 2015. She's co-chaired three campaigns and chaired the amazingly successful campaign to pass Propositions B & E last month.

Craig and Sandra dedicate this recognition to the MRH teachers, the ECC, and the late Ann Graham and the late Mamie Lane.

The Board's Citizen of the Year is Beyhan Springborn, the long-serving MRH Elementary School chicken steward. These are the words on her nomination form by Seed-to-Table instructor Almut Marino:

"Beyhan has been our volunteer head chicken steward for more than five years. She lives nearby and she checks on the chickens twice each day. She feeds them fresh fruits and vegetables and even hand-feeds them when one is sick. You should see how crazy the chickens get when they hear her coming. Beyhan and her late husband have invested time, resources and handyman skills to give the elementary school chickens the best life. Sadly, her husband John passed away on March 18. During his battle with cancer, John still came and helped with the chickens, buried the hen Franscesca, and built mobile nesting boxes for injured, sick and bullied chickens. Today, Beyhan says that the chickens help her deal with the stress before, and the grieving now."

The Board of Education salutes Ms. Springborn for her extraordinary level of dedication.

The Board also voted to adopt the Missouri Educator Evaluation System (MEES). Many of the District's current evaluation instruments are more than two decades old and no longer reflect the evolving roles, responsibilities, and expectations of today's workforce. Additionally, the tools lack consistent measurables and defined key performance indicators (KPIs), limiting their effectiveness in driving meaningful feedback and development.

Multiple contracts for construction work related to passage of Proposition B were okayed. WTI (Tremco) received a contract for building envelope work amounting to more than $1.1 million. Original bids for similar work for Prop B was $918,070. Several areas of work were added due to a facilities report including ECC wall, theater stairs, and concrete work at all three campuses to improve pedestrian safety. Byrne & Jones was approved for track & field work amounting to just under $1.1 million. That work begins immediately. Tech Electronics was tapped to contract for camera security upgrades and door access. The project carries a price tag of $294,000.
